testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills.
They now confirm their testimonials.
They say time has completed the test.

J. A. Hay, farmer, Hondo, says:
"Some years ago when I was working on the street cars the constant standing which the work necessitated resulted in pains across my back and kidneys. I had always heard Doan's Kidney Pills highly spoken of so I decided to try them. Doan's did me a world of good, entirely removing the trouble." (Statement given May 29, 1915).

On May 18, 1919 Mr. Hay added: "I think just as much of Doan's Kidney Pills today as ever. I haven't had occasion to use them since they cured me in 1915."

Time to Go.

Being a shy young woman, I always begged off from going to social affairs whenever it was possible to do so. On one unfortunate occasion, my mother and sister being indisposed, I was obliged to accompany father to a reception.

Quite late in the evening, when I was inwardly congratulating myself that the time to go home was approaching, a friend of my sister stepped to my side and said: "Are you enjoying yourself?"

"Like a fish out of water," I snapped savagely, and turned, at her peculiar look, to see our hostess standing right beside me. Needless to say, I managed to slip out without the usual form of thanking her for a delightful evening!—Chicago Tribune.

In Doubt.

"So your play was very successful?"

"I don't know."

"You don't know. I understand all New York is talking about it."

"Well a play bearing the title of one I wrote is doing very nicely down there."

"And it isn't your play at all?"

"I wouldn't say that. But after the producers got through inserting girl numbers, a chorus, a dance specialty, a moving picture scene, and a high diva it left impossible for me to say whether it is my plot or the vaudeville numbers which the public is approving."

Success.

I hold that success is measured by the best that a man can do, if he renders "best" completely and to life's great purpose is true. I hold there is no fixed number on the rule that gauges his worth. Put the chance that he's been given by home and by training and birth. If he does not meet my standard, should his efforts once be assailed? If I but compare our chances, it may be I who has failed.

So what does it matter, my brother, As down through life's valley you run, Whether man counts you a failure, Or thinks you have victory won?

For God from out of His wisdom, Who watches man toil in his fields, Will judge the worth of his efforts, By the kind of harvest it yields.

—Mabel Manning.

IT is not what the world thinks but what you know you have done that gives the true measure of success.

I hold it true that thoughts are things Endowed with bodies, breath and wings, And that we send them forth to fill The world with good results or ill."

THE regular session of the 37th Legislature adjourns sine die on March 12th. Governor Neff has given notice that there will be no called session until summer.

VALE, Woodrow Wilson! Too willful to be wise; at the same time, too wobbly to be worthwhile! You made a mess that will not soon unmix, and you leave with the world's pity where you thought to have its praise! Enough said! Vale! Likewise, farewell!

ONE of the most wholesome acts of the Supreme Court that has been recorded recently was the holding, by that tribunal, that the law creating the Federal Farm Loan Banking System, is valid. The farm loan banks had been debarred from doing business for several months, pending a decision in a case attacking the constitutionality of the act.

The decision settles the issue, and the banks will immediately resume business. At the time they suspended business, they had made loans amounting to $182,897,000 to 75,000 borrowers, and had pending 179,734 applications for loans aggregating $471,000,000.

The resumption of loans by these banks should go a long way towards restoring business confidence and relieving the country from the baleful effects of the Federal Reserve Banking System's

deflation made panic.

Few men ever had graver responsibilities to meet or greater opportunities for service than came to Warren G. Harding when he took the office of President of the United States on the 4th day of March in this good year of 1921. We have been hopeful that the incoming President, by calling into his confidence counselors of wisdom and patriotism, might steer the old ship of state out from among the rocks and shallows, where she has been allowed to drift by the palsied hand of a willful but wobbly helmsman, and once more sail her on the high sea of prosperity and contentment. And we shall not lose hope—yet. But we must confess, that when he called into his council Herbert Hoover, an Englishman in everything except the accident of birth, our confidence got an awful jolt. If there is another man after Barney Baruch—and Woodrow Wilson, who was responsible for them both—whom the farmers have a right to hate for robbing them to a finish during the last five years, that man is Herbert Hoover. He is all the more dangerous because withal he is an able man; and he is to be feared because without the American view point or American sympathy and ideals.

LIVE and laugh as you will; love and labor as you may; tragedy, it seems, always ends the play. There is something peculiarly tragic and sad in the passing of Champ Clark, who died at his home in Washington on the second of March. One of nature's noblemen and a politician and statesman of the old school, the people of the "Show-me" state honored him long and well. And never did he fail them; never did he bring the blush of shame to fair Missouri's cheek; always, he upheld her name and fame in honor. Eight years ago they thought to honor themselves and the nation by sending him up higher. And he went to the Democratic national convention in Baltimore with the presidential nomination honorably won. For twenty-nine ballots, he held that lead, when the political perfidy of a man who had rather be President than be true to his pledges, in an effort to turn the convention to himself, stampeded it to Woodrow Wilson, and W. J. Bryan became responsible for the most deplorable accident of modern party politics while Champ Clark went down in defeat and disappointment. But the people of Missouri continued to send him to Con-

Fletcherized Farm Facts BY FLETCHER DAVIS

A disease that is costing the corn growers many bushels in depleted yields every year is corn smut. Corn smut is a fungus that lives through the winter on the corn, stubble or waste whether in the field, the barnyard, fodder stack or barn. When the new corn begins to grow this smut fungus attaches itself to the new plant through its pores and thus becomes a parasitic disease of the plant. Therefore, a corn field that has become infected with smut should not be planted in corn, but should be rotated to other crops for several years, until the smut spores have had time to starve out for want of a host plant to feed upon. Neither should barn-yard manure from stock that have been feeding on smutty corn or corn fodder be spread on land that is to be planted to corn. And while corn smut is not transmitted from the parent plant to the young plant, as are the small grain smuts, it is not safe to plant corn that is known to have come from a smut-infected field or barn. Some farmers, to make assurance doubly sure and lest their fields become infected from spores adhering to the grains, treat their seed corn to the formalin treatment, just as they do small grain.

The formalin treatment consists of thoroughly dampening all of the grain, either by dipping it in or sprinkling thoroughly with a solution made of one pound of formalin to thirty gallons of water. This treatment for corn can at best but cleanse the seed and will be no protection to the crop if planted on a field already infected.

Another source of loss to corn growers is the planting of weak, devitalized seed and seed of low germinating qualities. Seed of this kind result in a poor stand and in a large percentage of weak, barren stalks. This can be avoided by selecting seed corn by the ear and then testing the ears separately.

There are several ways of testing seed corn, but any method that gives the grains a chance to sprout under conditions approaching those that will prevail in the field at planting time will afford a satisfactory test. Ears that under test fail to produce a high percentage of vigorous baby plants should be discarded. They are low in vitality and if planted will make a low yield.

Weather conditions favoring the first cultivation of corn should be close and deep. This causes the roots of the young plants to strike deeply into the soil and gives the plant an ideal feeding zone. After this shallow cultivation, frequent enough to keep down weed growth, break up any crust that might form and maintain a soil mulch, will be all that is necessary. Of course, these practices of cultivation must be adapted to soil and weather conditions. The effort should be to maintain a clean crop and a soil in good tilth with as near ideal moisture conditions as possible.

That farm that has produced an abundant supply of corn for its own use has taken a long and important step towards making itself self-sustaining. The farmer that has thrown this anchor to the windward is safest from the shocks and waves of financial storms that now beset the sea of industry. "It is better to be safe than sorry." Plant plenty of corn.

The Texas corn crop for 1920 consisted of 6,700,000 acres. The yield in bushels was 174,200,000. And the estimated value on the farm was $146,320,000. This was 200,000 acres less than the crop of 1918 and 60,000 acres less than that of 1919. While the acreage of 1919 was below that of either of the preceding four years, that year holds the record for production and value. The yield in 1919 was 202,800,000 bushels and the estimated value $239,304,000.

The above figures look like lots of corn. And so it is. But with all that production, Texas is an importer of corn and stands in no danger of ever producing too much. Let it be repeated—plant plenty of corn!

gress until last fall, when the ground swell of resentment at the follies of the man in the Whitehouse swept the old warhorse from his feet along with his party, and, after twenty-seven years of public service, he would have retired on the fourth of March. But fate willed it otherwise. He died in the service. And the shouting and the acclaim that heralded the coming of a new regime fell upon the unheeding ears and disturbed not the slumbers of the departed hero. Tragedy! tragedy of tragedies! But it were better today to be the honored dust of Clark than to be the discredited leader who betrayed him or the pitifully smitten and broken beneficiary of that perfidy!

SENIORS PICNIC AT CASTROVILLE.

Saturday morning February 26, the Seniors decided to have a picnic that afternoon. Unfortunately two of them were out of town, so a party composed of Seniors, two invited guests, and two of the teachers left town about three o'clock. Before leaving town it was decided that the Castroville bridge was the prettiest place for a picnic.

Arriving at their destination about four o'clock, they immediately began amusing themselves by exploring the country, gathering water-lilies, kodaking, laughing and joking.

About six-thirty o'clock the girls spread the cloth for lunch, and the call for lunch was eager and responded to.

Soon after lunch they started for home, declaring they had had the happiest time in all their lives.

Seated around the lunch cloth so beautifully spread

With good things to eat, the sky overhead

Seemed never so blue and clear to be, And no one in the world so happy as we.

First was Mr. Howell, chaperone number one, Who ever knew he was so full of fun? He forgot to be stern but was actually gay.

Teasing and making George jealous all day.

Willie Mae came next, comfortably seated on her feet,

She could scarcely keep still long enough to eat. Though laughing and talking and eating all the while, To the one on her left she often cast a sweet smile.

George looked as though he felt a little queer Seated between two girls who are both so dear.

It is easy to tell which one he likes better— He should smile at them all for he may not get her.

Altha sitting quietly watching the fun was half through eating before the others began. She is very wise, steady, and true If you want information she will tell you.

Happy and jolly was Dorothy Lee. Never still a minute did her tongue seem to be.

Those dainty little cakes, the ones that she brought, I wonder did she make them or were they store bought.

Randolph sat next beside a special guest Smiling very sweetly and we know the rest.

But she did not take up quite all his attention For the amount of salad he ate is worthy of mention.

Thelma that day was on pleasure bent And she found it indeed with our class President.

The climax was reached when for lunch came the call For the best part of a picnic is eating after all.

Without Jo our picnic would not have been complete For she took her car and a lot of good things to eat, And was as jolly all the afternoon as could be.

Never thinking of muchachos and their A. B. C.

Ethel sat next, looking so sweet and grand, Her sweetheart she rules with a firm hand,

The salad she brought was the best we ever ate; Could we have eaten more had we had a plate?

Next sat Milton, the brave and true hearted, He declared that from Bugs he will never be parted, But the way he did eat really does prove That he is not trying to exist solely on love.

Mr. Newton came next, chaperone number two, His appetite "absolutely" was never better, 'tis true,

He ate what he could, that goes without knowing,

Seniors to Establish New Custom.

The Senior Class met in a call session Monday, February 28, to discuss the attitude of the class as a whole toward the wearing of "square-tops" and gowns at the commencement exercises. The president called the meeting to order and gave a short talk on the nature of the meeting and invited every one to take part in a free discussion of the question. After all had given their opinions, a motion was made that the uniforms should be worn. The motion carried almost unanimously, there being only one vote in the negative. However, all agreed to uphold the decision of the majority.

This idea originated in Hondo High, with the class of '20, but on account of delay in decision, the robes were not received in time. The question arose this year when Mr. Howell received a letter from a school supply company. He immediately referred it to Mr. Metzger, president of the class, who put it before the class.

After this question had been settled the subject of invitations was again brought up, and the president urged the necessity of immediately giving the exact number wanted by each member. After much work over figures on the blackboard, showing the cost, the class adjourned.

CLEAN-UP HINTS

BY

Manton M. Carrick, State Health Officer

Top covering of shallow wells should be watertight. Drain moisture from garbage before placing in can.

Provide a proper garbage can and keep the can covered.

Burn or bury garbage where no garbage collection exists.

Don't let milk bottles stand unwashed after use. Keep loose manure in fly-tight boxes and remove at regular intervals.

Fight the flies by eliminating their breeding places.

No filth, no flies.

Inspect your roof gutter, cistern and fountains for mosquito breeding.

Drain, oil and screen against malaria carriers.

Cease keeping company with the rat, build him out of your home by placing metal lathe between double walls.

Dr. Aronovici Clean-Up Commandments.

1. Love your neighbor's lot as you do your own; but be sure to love your own.
2. Don't plant tomato cans and rubbish on unused land; their fruits are withered civic pride.
3. Don't allow yourself or your city to create dumps. Waste can be made to pay for its own destruction at a profit.
4. Don't allow tumbled-down buildings to stand on valuable land; they are financially wasteful, they create filth, invite vice and are a menace to life.
5. A fence that has ceased to be a fence and has become an offense should be repaired or destroyed.
6. Two gardens may grow where one dump has bloomed before.
7. School gardens are valuable adjuncts to education and recreation. They can be cultivated on an open lot.
8. Let the children play on the unused land, so they may become strong and keep out of the hands of the law.

THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH, Austin, Texas.

The above clean-up hints having been issued by the State Health Department, same are approved by the Hondo Chamber of Commerce, and our people are requested to comply with same. The 3rd Wednesday in each month has been designated as Clean-Up Day for Hondo, beginning March 16th.

ALICE GRESHAM HOOD,
Mother of first American soldier killed in France, who gives credit for recovery of her to the well-known medicine,

Following remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Alice Gresham Hood, the mother of Jas. B. Gresham, who was an American soldier killed in the statement was made at the Hondo Memorial Home, which sent to her by the patriotic Indiana as an evidence of the services rendered by her son.

lock of her son's death was a serious breakdown in Mrs. Gresham's health, but every one will find interest and pleasure that she is in splendid health again, and gives the entire credit for the celebrated medicine.

"After my dear boy's death I had a general breakdown in health. At first it was just indigestion, food would upset me and I set myself very carefully. I had rheumatism with severe pains in my shoulders, back and arms. I would suffer greatly, points would become swollen. I was hardly able to do little about the house and at first did not even cook a meal. I was very nervous and restless and would lie awake for hours. And of mine advised me to see. I am glad I did, for it was the best medicine I have taken. It soon gave me a appetite and relieved me from indigestion. My rheumatism disappeared and I am now able to work with the greatest of ease. My nerves are steady and I sleep well at night and my better than in years. I shall be grateful for what Tanlac did for me."

YOU certainly want to save money, and you would like to have better bakenings. Then use Calumet. It's the biggest thing you can do to improve the quality of your bakenings—and lower baking costs. Calumet is made in the largest, most sanitary Baking Powder Factories in the World. No Baking Powder is made under better conditions—none can be better in quality. It contains only such ingredients as have been officially endorsed by the U. S. Pure Food Authorities. An absolute guarantee that it is pure.

It received highest Awards, World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago — Paris Exposition, Paris, France—positive proof of its superior merit.

It is used by more housewives, domestic scientists and chefs than any other brand. That would not be the case, if it were possible to secure a higher quality leavening. It is sold at a moderate price. All you have to do is to compare costs to determine how much you can save by buying Calumet.

Pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

SOCIETY ILLUSTRATED Texas Physician Says Cancer Is Curable.

D. J. M. Gilbert of Randolph Declares Dr. O. A. Johnson Has Proved His Mastery of Dread Disease.

Physicians know that cancer will not yield to ordinary treatment. Therefore, when a bad cancer appeared on his face, Dr. J. M. Gilbert of Randolph, Texas, lost no time in consulting Dr. O. A. Johnson, eminent cancer specialist, of Kansas City, Mo. Declaring he is entirely cured, Dr. Gilbert writes:

"I recommend that every cancer sufferer consult immediately with the man, that I, as a doctor, regard foremost in his line. Dr. Johnson has proved to the world that cancer can be cured."

Dr. Johnson has published a remarkable book called 'Cancer Truths', a statement of his theories and experiences in treating cancer without the use of the knife. Purely medicinal measures only are employed; that is, external applications to destroy the cancer and internal medication to purify the blood. This book will be sent free to any cancer sufferer. Or, if you have a friend suffering from cancer, write to Dr. O. A. Johnson, Suite 560, 1324 Main Street, Kansas City, Mo.

ARE YOU CO-OPERATING?

Have you ever thought about co-operation? And what co-operation is?

In beginning this paper, the first thing was to procure the aid of our business men. Their advertising was needed to finance the paper. Almost every one responded and almost every business firm in Hondo is advertised in our paper. That's co-operation!

After starting, many obstacles were met, and as these were being overcome, did you lend a helping hand? How many of you have ever thought of telling the editor that the paper is the best yet, or what you thought kept it from becoming the best? Did you ever think that the editor needed any encouragement? Did you ever think of comparing the publishing of this paper to a football game? The teams have their supporters to yell for them. They have some one to back them up. That's co-operation!

Have you ever thought of how important the newly organized Chamber of Commerce is? This organization should be supported. The business men realized the necessity for such an association to protect the best interests of the town, and they got together and created the Hondo Chamber of Commerce, something that most probably will become very beneficial to our town. That's co-operation!

Have you ever thought of just how much good is being done in the rabbit drives? Have you realized just what they mean to the farmer? We are cleaning out one of the worst pests of the Texas farmer. To make these drives successful, the help of everyone was needed, and the people of the community responded. That's co-operation!

Have you ever thought of the harm done by irregular attendance? Do you realize just what it costs to miss a recitation? Those parents who keep their children out of school only in case of sickness, or absolute necessity, are the best assets to the school. When the school undertakes to accomplish some task, it should be supported by every one, regardless of religious belief, or political belief. That's co-operation!

And how may the student learn the meaning of co-operation? Does the meaning lie in poorly prepared lessons, and misbehavior? It does not. Students should boost the school by making their courses. By accepting an authority and abiding by the rules and regulations, he pushes the school forward. He shows interest in what the school is doing, and gives his help whenever possible. That's co-operation!

Are YOU co-operating?

Disarmament

"I'll never forget," said Cactus Joe, "the time Crimson Gulch decided that all us citizens ought to disarm."

"Did the boys agree?"

"Yes. It worked out fine till Tomale Tom found out where the weapons were cached and took possession. The recovery of our rights to self-preservation was one of the most prolonged and agitating events in Crimson Gulch history."

SOCIETY ILLUSTRATED Texas Physician Says Cancer Is Curable.

The Sophomores entertained Friday evening, February 25, with a party at the home of Mrs. J. W. Hollaway. The rooms were decorated in green and white, the class colors, and ferns helped portray the beauty of the rooms.

About thirty guests took part in the assortment of games, "Bunco", "Hearts", "42", and "Pig" being the favorite ones. The games were interrupted about nine o'clock with the appearance of the punch bowl and cake, after which the fun was continued.

After several strenuous hours of play, the guests relaxed while several selections of piano and voice were rendered by Miss Crider and Miss Lucille Hollaway.

The climax of the evening was reached with the serving of brick ice cream and cake to the following guests: Misses Crawford, Black, Crider, Lorraine Heath, Evelyn Wilson, Hattie Stiegler, Clara Filleman, Lorene Merriman, Rosalie Koch, Mabel Crow, Mabel and Lucille Hollaway; Messrs. J. D. Howell, G. T. Newton, M. Minter, Earl Lacy, V. H. Blocker, Henry Windrow, Oscar Filleman, Marion Davis, Will Ernest Newton, Charles Brucks, Origen Crow, Bennie Bradley, Harry Laughinghouse.

Somewhere around twelve, the guests departed saying, "There's no place like a Soph party."
